- More mentally and physically stronger society;
- Better sporting base for future professional athletes, as a perspective and role model;

- The multidisciplinary role of sport

We have a strong and experienced team of members, volunteers, youth workers, social workers, trainers, educators, and professionals in several kinds of sports ready to contribute with knowledge and experience.

As part of our effort to provide more diverse and thorough program for the development of youths’ potential, FOOTURA is actively expanding its sphere of activities, going far beyond sport-oriented initiatives. Our association hired established specialists who act as mentors and organize innovative and creative trainings targeting students from the top Bulgarian universities, who had already proven their excellence at academic level. Since our establishment in 2013 over 150 young people have gained certificates for passing successfully our work programmes, such as “Bulgarian heritage now and forever”, “Practical realization and impact assessment of the EU regional policy”, “Methods for accounting of the economic activities”, “Current management models in the sphere of economy”, “Sport management”, “PR and image building”, etc. As a result, more than 90% of FOOTURA’s work associates belonged to the group of young people (most of them aged between 19 and 26). Our work shows the endless dimensions of sport and its direct collaboration with close disciplines (such as tourism-geography, culture, health) and even with not so close disciplines. We believe in this sports-centric model and our work shows many of the positive characteristics and values of it.
